

Close Protection Operatives

With today's modern terrorist threats, high profile business people, diplomats and celebrities all need to take extra care when it comes to personal security of themselves and their immediate family and friends.

Today's bodyguards are far different to the stereo type image many people have of them. No longer are they hired gorillas looking after people, but professionally trained Close Protection Operatives, or CPO's, who are experts in fire fighting, first aid, defensive & evasive driving, threat assessment, weapons, business etiquette and communication skills, also many of our officers are conversant in 2 or more languages.

Response Security Solutions can provide highly trained professional protection specialists who are equally at home with small children as they are with boardroom directors or celebrities. As a part of our dedication to this service we are also able to offer female officers to work with young family or business women or indeed mothers at home. Close Protection Operatives are available 24hrs a day 365 days a year and with our extensive network of contacts spanning the globe we are able to offer personnel worldwide.

Our Close Protection Operatives easily fit in with your business and social life, no one need no they are there unless action is required. Our teams are unobtrusive and highly trained.

We are able to provide large and small teams or individuals as you may require at any notice period anywhere in the world, whether it be for 1 hour or long periods of times, let us keep you safe.

Please call or email in strictest confidence +44 (0)845 166 1981 to discuss your Close Protection requirements in detail. For information on other ways to contact us, please click here